

LEYLA DIAMONDI

"Leyla's vocals are soft, angelic, and emotionally charged... Leyla demonstrates her wide, impressive vocal range within the chorus."

- My Soul Cries

RISING ARTISTS

"The girl with the fantastic voice and the brilliant songs."

"What a Choctastic track!"

- Down for You

HOTEL Chocolat.

"Such an easy track to listen too."

(Sunny and Shay

- Letting Go (Bad Habits)

BBC RADIO LONDON

"Musical style and creative writing of Adele, and the incredible big voice of Celin Dion."

- Matt Tancock - My Soul Cries

BBC RADIO
Bristol

22-year-old London-based artist, Leyla Diamondi, is half-Greek (father) and half-Turkish (mother). She is a representation of the good that can happen when individuals choose unity instead of centuries of cultural and racial division.

Leyla Diamondi's newest single, 'My Soul Cries' was describes as having the "musical style and creative writing of Adele, and the incredible big voice of Celin Dion" and was selected as Track of the Week by BBC Radio Bristol. This single will be performed live at iconic and historic venue The Bedford in London on the 3rd May.

Since the start of Leyla Diamondi's career in 2019, she has been interviewed and broadcasted on BBC Radio London, multiple BBC Introducing Stations around the country, UK Health Radio (+1.2M listeners), and LGR (400K listeners). She was featured in the BBC 6MUSIC festival fringe, performed at COYA Mayfair, performed at Boxpark Wembley, and sold out her headliner act at Werkhaus London. At the start of the first lockdown, she helped raise over £80,000 for the WARchild Charity via a virtual performance alongside others artists. She has also been featured on the Warner Bros Topisfy 'Popsito' playlist on Spotify and her single 'Down for You' featured on the official Hotel Chocolat's in-store playlist for a couple months last year.

With only a few years under Diamondi's belt in the industry and being completely independent, Leyla has made quite the impact.

